School Bond Issue Polling $4 Million Voted in December

A school bond issue in the amount of approximately $4 million is expected to be presented to voters in December, according to School Board President Corinne Kyle. The last school bond issue was in 1983, when $3.7 million was approved for capital expenses and maintenance to school buildings and fields.

If approved, about $2.75 million would be used to construct 12 additional classrooms at Johnson Park School. An enrollment study committee recently determined that these classrooms would be needed to house the increasing numbers of elementary school students expected over the next five years.

An additional $800,000 to $1 million would be bonded to meet further capital needs. "Because of reduced State aid and a tight budget, we delayed some major capital expenses in order not to cut into programs," said Kyle. These expenses include a new roof for the high school and the cost of removing underground fuel storage.

The Board authorized the Craft & McManimon for legal counsel. The firm will help the Board develop bonding options. The administration recommended that the firm of Fulmer and Wolf, 20 Nassau Street, be appointed architects for the proposed addition to Johnson Park.

A School Board Improvement Committee was formed by the Board to begin thinking about ramifications of the proposed bond issue and determine whether any work has to be done on Community Park, Littlebrook, and Riverside schools before the fifth grade class is moved back in. The Board hopes to move the fifth graders back from the middle school to the elementary

This Rainy May Has Been Second Wettest on Record

This May was the second wettest May on record, second only to 1894. Records — albeit unofficial ones — have been kept since 1866, making this the second wettest May in at least 123 years.

In May, 1894, ten inches of rain fell on Princeton. Last month brought downpours totaling eight-and-a-half inches.

The culprit: storms from the southwest which settled over the area. The storms have shifted direction and are now coming from the west. This means, said Princeton weather historian David Ludlum, they will not be as wet. The amount of rain will be less in each storm.

And none too soon: In the first 13 days of June, 4.03 inches of rain fell. This is twice the normal amount, said Mr. Ludlum.

What does this all mean. "More mosquitoes — and no water problem."

John-Witherspoon Residents Meet to Discuss Absentee Landlords, Lack of Parking, Speeders

A meeting on housing with residents of the John-Witherspoon neighborhood last week began in outright hostility and anger at the Township Housing Board over its newly-released housing rehabilitation study.

But at the end, after nearly two hours of discussion, the residents — their fears about the board's intentions somewhat eased — agreed to meet again this Tuesday. They had agreed that the number one problem in the neighborhood is absentee landlords and that absentee ownership seems to spawn a great many people all living in one building. They also identified speeding traffic, lack of parking and the trend toward commercialism as problems they would like to take steps to correct.

The meeting was called by the Housing Board to give the neighbors an opportunity to discuss the recommendations of the housing rehabilitation feasibility study undertaken by Martha Lamar and Associates. Ms. Lamar outlined ways suggested in the report by which the Township could either acquire, rehabilitate and then sell or rent properties, or could give deferred payment loans to homeowners to fix up their own properties.

She told the group that this is an "opportune time" because there is a commitment on the part of the Housing Board for rehabilitation and there are funds available, not only from Township developers but also from State sources. She also said there are many vacant properties in the neighborhood and pressure to purchase them and turn them into commercial properties.

But when Housing Board member Jane Silverman, acting as moderator, asked for neighborhood comment on the report, one man, a longtime resident of Birch Avenue, responded immediately: "It's a bad report. I think it stinks. It smacks of I-don't-know-what. Where do you get all these properties that are run down? Why doesn't the Township acquire its own land for Mt. Laurel housing and leave us alone?"

"You're feasting your eyes on properties that belong to

Fete Survives Rain and Mud And Has Another Good Year

"Is it supposed to be Venice?" asked someone, referring to the fields on which this year's Medical Center Fete was held and to the event's theme, "Around the World in '89." The fields, though not ready to float a gondola, were flooded on Friday — the day volunteers set up for the Saturday event. The flooding was worse Friday night, when the pre-Fete dance was held.

The dance, however, was the most successful ever held, said Oriel Quinlan — who co-chaired the Fete with Françoise Snoy — and it made more money than any dance in Fete history.

Attendance at the Fete was down from former years, even though the floods had simmered down to plain mud. The police were not able to provide estimates, said Mrs. Quinlan, but others put the attendance at 20,000. The Fete usually draws about 30,000.

The all-day event, however, made about the same amount of money as it did last year, in the area of about $135,000 to $140,000, she said.

Those who did brave the mud on Saturday stayed on. "I can't explain it," said Mrs. Quinlan. "If I wasn't working on it, I would have gone home. But they seemed to feel that this is the day, and it won't be back for a year. There is also loyalty to the Medical Center. "They wouldn't go home, God bless them," she said, in an English accent that evoked the fetes and jumble sales in Barbara Pym novels. "We want to thank the community. Our spirits were rather low by Saturday morning. By the end of the day, we were euphoric."

Volunteers worked in the heavy rains on Friday to help get trucks unstuck from the mud. As each was unstuck, said Mrs. Quinlan, another came in. "Trucks smart enough not to come onto the mud had to have people carry hundreds of cases and crates across the fields," she said. "They couldn't use dollies, because they sank."

The dance was a triumph

Wadsworth Calls for Recount

Ray Wadsworth, who came in seven votes behind Jane Terpstra in last Tuesday's Democratic Borough Council primary, has called for a recount. The final tally for the two Council seats on the ballot was: Roger Martindell, 662; Jane Terpstra, 486; and Mr. Wadsworth, 479.

Mr. Wadsworth also received 45 write-in votes on the Republican side, where only one candidate, David Jackson, was fielded. Mr. Jackson received 307 votes.

"The recount will probably take place in a week or two," said Jan Stonaker, a Princeton attorney and Mr. Wadsworth's campaign manager. She said there was money in the campaign treasury to pay for it.

Mr. Wadsworth is permitted to accept the Republican nomination while waiting for the results of the recount. If he prevails in the recount, he must then decide between the two parties.

He has not yet made this decision. "I still have to consider the good and bad points. I won't make a hasty decision at this moment," he said. "I'm not a full Democrat, and I'm not a Republican. I'm going to be on the ballot one way or another."

Ms. Stonaker feels there were irregularities in some voting machines in some districts. "One machine was out one hour, and they used paper ballots. In two others, voters told me that they thought their votes weren't getting counted," she said. "It will be interesting to see if this affected the outcome."

She also raised the possibility of human error, pointing out that the November recount in the County Freeholder race found that an election worker had transposed numbers.

Some of the setting up usually done on Friday was delayed until Saturday because volunteers were busy putting down 50 bales of hay in the dance tent and race area. No one had time to go to Lenox to pick up the china for the china smash. When someone went over on Saturday, no one was there.

"So a Boy Scout troop picked up the bottles left over from Friday night and we used them," said Mrs. Quinlan. "We made more money than ever before."

People rolled up their trousers, took off their shoes, and danced in two inches of muddy water. They danced holding umbrellas, and dined the same way. Although most had left by 11:30, a small group remained until 2:15.

The next morning, said Mrs. Quinlan, "there was a lovely, tidy pile of champagne bottles surrounded by men's and women's shoes and pantyhose. They were ruined. The dry cleaning business will go through the roof this week."

This year's car, a Honda DX with cellular phone, was won by George Cramer of Lewisburg, Pa. Mr. Cramer and his wife Mabel were Princeton residents for 50 years before leaving three years ago. The owner of the first auto dealership on Route 206 — a Hudson dealership he opened in 1948 — Mr. Cramer worked for Nassau-Conover for 15 years.

The Cramers were in town visiting their children, a daughter, Cheryl Miller, who lives on Mt. Lucas Road, and a son, George F. Cramer Jr., of Plainsboro. There was a visit to the Fete, the purchase of one car raffle ticket — and the rest is history.

The two Pan Am tickets to any European city were won by Jeff Grochala, of Trenton.

Squibb Wins Approval For Headquarters Bldg.

The Squibb Corporation received preliminary site plan approval for its $240 million U.S. headquarters from the Plainsboro Planning Board last week.

The Squibb Corp. plans to build the 1.15 million square foot headquarters on Scudders Mill Road opposite the Merrill Lynch complex. The project will be built in two phases. The first, containing 750,000 square feet of office space is expected to be completed by 1993 and to house 1,600 employees. Phase II will contain an additional 400,000 square feet of office space, for which no timetable has been set.

The Plainsboro headquarters is intended to consolidate the company's U.S. operations. The facility is intended primarily for marketing and will house Squibb subsidiaries such as Princeton Pharmaceutical Products, Squibb Diagnostics, E.R. Squibb and Sons U.S. and Squibb Mark. The headquarters will also house Squibb College, the company's in-house training program.

AT THE REUNION: Anne Dennen, 85, and Nat McKee, 82, were the two oldest people at Saturday's 50th reunion of the Jugtown Boys and Community Clubs held at Hook & Ladder Firehouse. Mrs. Dennen's sons, members of the club, were also present.

50th Reunion Party
Draws Many Jugtowners

They sat around tables in Hook & Ladder Firehouse on North Harrison Street, stood at the bar, and reminisced about the good old days — all appropriate behavior for the 50th reunion of the Jugtown Boys and Community Clubs. About 100 former members showed up Saturday afternoon. Some who couldn't make it sent letters.

On a long side table were all sorts of memorabilia, including photos of the winning Jugtown Boys Club softball and basketball teams of 1948 and 1949. Some in the photo were also in the room, and were glad to show an interested visitor how they looked 50 years ago.

"It's Princeton, but we call it Jugtown. It's a separate community," was the way Jack O'Neill, one of the event's organizers, described the neighborhood Jugtown, which straddles Nassau Street, is bordered by Princeton Avenue and Snowden Lane. It's also a state of mind.

In 1939, when the club was formed, Markham was a dead-end street, Cedar Lane wasn't there, and Riverside Drive was one estate. "After the war, they started to build," said Doug Watson, a retired member of the Borough police force.

He said the club was started by parents, who wanted to do something for children in the neighborhood.

"It was mostly baseball, in town and in Trenton, and on playgrounds," he said. "We also played at the old Country Day School fields, on Western Way and Broadmead."

Just about every original member went off to serve in World War II. Close to 90 Jugtown men and women are named on an honor roll. Some never returned.

"The club was really a big part of our neighborhood," said Mr. Watson, who lives on Fisher Avenue. "People were very interested in keeping it together, and when we left it was kept going for younger boys." The club continued until about 1952.

"It kept us out of mischief," said Mr. O'Neill, assistant supervisor for parking operations for the Borough and a member of the event's planning committee. "It was a tight community. Everyone knew everyone, and we helped each other."

"We felt special for some reason," he continued. "We all turned out well. We all have successful lives. Some went to college, some didn't. Some went to Yale, Princeton, Rider, Rutgers."

Mr. O'Neill will never forget someone who helped him, Herbert Stout, who lived on Greenview Avenue. "He was like a father to me," he said. "My father died when I was 16 months. He sort of took me by the hand, like a father. I tried to use him as an example with my children."

Mr. O'Neill and his brother Donald were one of two sets of twins in the club. The other was Bob and Bruce Denner, who were both at the reunion.

Both went to the Princeton elementary schools, Princeton Country Day School, Phillips Exeter, and Yale. Both served in the U.S. Navy and both followed a career in banking, Bob in Philadelphia and Bruce in New York.

Bruce Denner, who lives in Greenwich, Conn., said the club was a way to stay in touch. "I didn't go to the high school. That made it difficult to come home and relate."

Did the fact that he was at Phillips Exeter and not at Princeton High make a difference to club members? Mr. Denner looked tentative. "Nobody cared," said Jerry Silvester, an event organizer.

Mr. Denner and Mr. Silvester reminisced about how they would walk to elementary school, come home for lunch, and walk back again. "And when it snowed," said Mr. Denner, "all the gas stations on Nassau Street would plow the snow onto the curb. We would walk out on huge mounds of snow."

School Board Planning Six Summer Programs

Six different programs are scheduled to be run this summer by the Princeton Regional School Board. Five have already been approved by the Board, and the sixth will be reviewed at the June 27 meeting.

Several are new, and are geared to help students who have been identified as requiring an extra measure of support from the system. Some have evolved from meetings held by a school and community group formed by School Superintendent Carol Choye in response to minority parents' complaints about the quality of their children's education in the public schools.

A Parent Child Institute, composed of ten parent/child teams and run by Director of Planning and Technology Len Scrogan, will be held for one week at Community Park. Youngsters age 5 to 10 will work on computer-based activities. This is aimed at getting parents used to what their children are doing in computers and to address the issue of gender equity. "As kids get older, it appears boys are more comfortable with computers," said School Board President Corinne Kyle.

Although open to all, there will be considerable recruitment in the minority community. The program is budgeted at $320.

For the second year, Princeton Educational Resources will fund a basic skills improvement program for 25 students in grades one to four. This will be held at Community Park. The schools will identify the students who would gain from this seven-week workshop and will furnish facilities.

The goal of the program, which is funded through a grant from the Harborton Foundation, is to maintain basic skills learned during the school year and seek to build on these skills.

As in previous years, the district will hold an orientation for all incoming kindergarten students during the week of June 26. This will take place at all three Princeton elementary schools. It is budgeted at $7,035.

Some 15 to 20 entering kindergarteners, identified as needing additional support, will participate in this summer's pre-kindergarten program, which will be held from July 5 through August 4 at Littlebrook School. The program's purpose is to remediate deficiencies for kindergarten entry and educate parents in support of academic programs.

This program is supported by a State block grant of $11,466.

Another new program to evolve out of the superintendent's school and community group is a pilot summer transition program for ten students who will enter the high school in September. Budgeted at $3,300, its goal is to provide support for students and their parents during the transition to high school.

The ten students in the program, culturally and racially mixed, would be identified as those who would benefit from additional support from each other and from their parents.

The sixth effort, also an outgrowth of the school and community group, is a summer program called PLUS. Partners in Learning: University and Schools, which would be held from August 7 to August 18 at Community Park School. Princeton University, in an effort to work more closely with the Princeton schools, will fund $7,500 of the program's $17,500 budget. The Board, at its meeting of June 6, asked that further information be provided at its July 27 meeting.

PLUS's objectives are the equalization of educational opportunity and enhanced self-esteem, and it will be addressed to all students who have these needs, including minority students. There will be particular recruitment among minority students.

Open to about 50 children in grades one to four, first priority will be given those who were enrolled in the pre-kindergarten program and who are now in grades one, two, and three.

The two-week program will be divided into two segments, the first focusing on arts activities and the second on science. Children will work in four groups, with a student-teacher ratio not greater than 12 to 1. Strong parental involvement is an important component of the program.

Passenger Is Charged
With Drug Possession

A passenger in a car stopped early Tuesday morning by Borough police for not having headlights on was later charged with possession of less than 50 grams of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia. The passenger, identified as Catherine C. D'Amore, 28, of Acton, Ma., is scheduled to appear in court June 21. Police said that she had a marijuana cigarette in her possession and a plastic baggie containing marijuana in her purse.

The driver was charged with failure to use headlights when required and no license in possession. Sgt. Donald Dawson and Ptl. Kevin Creggan had stopped the car around 1 a.m. on Tulane Street. As they approached the driver, the two officers reported smelling an odor of burning marijuana coming from the window.

Kiosk Is Twice Target
For Candy Snatchers

The magazine and newspaper kiosk on Palmer Square was visited twice last week by shoplifters with an affinity for candy. In the most recent theft, according to Capt. Thomas Michaud, two young men had entered the kiosk several times around 6 on Saturday evening. As a bus was pulling up to the bus stop outside the kiosk, the two grabbed some candy bars and walked out. Several customers witnessed the incident and told the clerk what had happened.

HOLE-IN-ONE PRIZE: Tom Knobloch, left and Robert Greces, of Princeton Motor Sports, hand keys to a 1989 Mercedes-Benz 190E-2.6 to Mort O'Shea, co-chair of the fourth Princeton Golf Classic, which benefits the Princeton Regional Scholarship Foundation. The car is a "hole-in-one" prize. This is the PRSF's 20th year of giving tuition grants to Princeton High School seniors who need help continuing their education. The golf classic will be held at Springdale Golf Club on Thursday. The event offers eighty golfers a chance to compete for prizes, including a trip to the Bahamas.

At the same time, Det. Ralph Terracciano saw the clerk run from the kiosk and pursue the two suspects who ran to the bus and hopped on. Suspecting something amiss, Det. Terracciano questioned the clerk and then radioed a patrol car to stop the bus.

His subsequent investigation revealed that the two had indeed stolen $3 worth of candy. One was an adult, Dehkonte Monyoukaye, 20, of Trenton; the second, a 15-year-old juvenile from Ewing Township. Police charged both with shoplifting. Monyoukaye is scheduled to appear in Borough court July 5. Two days earlier, police had charged Eileen O'Reily, 29, with shoplifting eight candy bars valued at $6 from the kiosk. Also scheduled for a July 5 court hearing, O'Reily is unemployed and has no known address. According to Capt. Michaud, O'Reily entered the kiosk, placed some candy bars in her pocketbook and walked out. She did this several times. Responding to an 11:20 call from the kiosk, Ptl. Robert Currier approached the suspect and placed her under arrest. Police recovered $3 worth of the candy and released O'Reily after issuing her a complaint summons.

Driver Slumped at Wheel
Is Charged With DWI

A driver slumped over the wheel of a car parked in a Leigh Avenue driveway last week with the motor running was later charged with driving while intoxicated. The driver, Antonio S. Cruz, 23, 9 Maple Terrace, has since been released on $500 bail and faces a hearing June 26 in Township court. Shortly after 1 Friday morning, Ptl. Robert Toole and Officer Gary Conover went to 34 Leigh Avenue to investigate a noise complaint. In checking the rear of the address, they observed a 1985 Ford parked in the drive with the driver slumped over the wheel. The car's stereo was blaring. When the officers requested the driver turn down the music, they detected a strong odor of alcoholic beverage.

After interviewing the driver and conducting balance and coordination tests, police placed Cruz under arrest. He was taken to nearby Princeton Medical Center where a sample of his blood was taken for analysis. Lt. Mario Musso, in reporting the incident, said it was not noted on the report why the driver was taken to the hospital instead of police headquarters.

Woodbridge Will Run For Township Committee

Having received 266 write-in votes for Township Committee in the primary election on June 6, former Borough Councilman Richard Woodbridge has decided to toss his hat in the ring.

He filed the necessary forms with the Mercer County Clerk's office last Monday to run on the Republican ticket for one of the two seats available on Committee this year. His running mate will be Michael Tomalin, longtime school board member who was defeated in a bid for Township Committee last fall. They will run against two Democratic incumbents, Mayor Phyllis Marchand and Councilwoman Janet Mitchell, each seeking a second three-year term.

Mr. Tomalin received 702 votes in the primary balloting, while Mrs. Marchand and Mrs. Mitchell received 966 and 920 votes respectively. Before he made his decision to run, Mr. Woodbridge was quoted as saying "it would be tough" to beat the two Democrats in November, since the Democratic Party holds the edge in registration in the Township.

He has asked Carol and Alex Wojciechowiec to be his campaign managers. Mrs. Wojciechowiec served a three-year term on Township Committee and decided not to run for re-election last fall.

Ordinances Are Adopted By Township Committee

In an unusually brief meeting last Monday, Township Committee adopted three new ordinances.

The first establishes the registered weight limit of a truck as the basis on which the Township Police Department can issue a summons for failing to observe the posted weight limit.

it on Township roads. According to Township Attorney Edwin W. Schmierer, before the adoption of this measure a police officer who stopped a truck suspected of being over the allowable weight limit had to call in a team from the state police with a weighing machine. Now the police may ticket the driver on the basis of the tonnage showed on the vehicle's registration.

"This is a minor matter, but it will make life easier for the police," Mr. Schmierer commented.

Another ordinance prohibits the unlawful disposal of trash not only in the public rights of way but also on public or private property. The need for the amendment grew out of the discovery by Committeeman Thomas Poole of an old washing machine that had been dumped in the Institute Woods. In checking with the Township Attorney, Mr. Poole learned that there was no ordinance by which the property owner could take someone caught dumping on private property to municipal court.

Mr. Poole said he would be letting the large landowners know that this ordinance has been adopted so that they could post signs at key spots on the properties warning would-be dumpers of the consequences.

A third measure appropriates $50,000 for an engineering study leading up to the conversion of the Pretty Brook sewer treatment plant to a pumping station. The small "package" treatment plant is overloaded, and the state Department of Environmental Protection has been asking the Township to shut it down. The Township intends to convert it to a pumping station which would pump sewerage from the northeast to the collector system feeding the Mountain Brook trunkline.

Developer contributions from the Ettl Farm development off Rosedale and residential developments proposed by the Hillier Group for the Princeton Day School/Cadle tract and by DKM for the deMenil tract, both off Pretty Brook Road, are expected to reimburse the Township for the engineering study and for the actual conversion.

Other Business. In other business, Committee introduced an ordinance setting forth the regulations pertaining to the extension of the sanitary sewer line to fill a gap on Cherry Hill Road where no public sewer presently exists. A public hearing on this ordinance will be held on Monday, June 26.

At the start of the meeting, Mayor Phyllis Marchand announced several new appointments. John Kuser has been appointed to the Joint Environmental Commission, replacing Donna Schneider who has resigned. Ms. Schneider has headed the Commission's deer committee for the past several years, but Mr. Kuser was on the three-member ad hoc deer committee appointed by Township Committee which ultimately turned the deer problem over to the Commission so he should have no problems filling her shoes in this respect.

Following the resignation of Walter Bliss from the Zoning Board because of a commitment to another municipality, Mayor Marchand has moved Victoria Smalley from alternate to regular member and appointed William Greenberg as an alternate. She also appointed Earl McQueen and Ellen Levine to vacancies on the Site Plan Review Advisory Board of the Planning Board.

Princetonians Are Fined In Criminal Court Here

Four Princeton residents were fined last week in Borough criminal court and three more had their papers sent to the Mercer County Prosecutor's Office for further action.

For possession of drug paraphernalia, John P. Madden, 16 Green Street, was fined $500 under the State's Drug Enforcement and Demand Reduction penalty, plus a $100 fine, $50 lab fee, $30 to the Violent Crime Compensation Board and $15 court costs. In addition, Judge Russell Annich Jr. sentenced Madden to 30 days community service.

Roland Glover, 34 Red Oak Row, was fined $45 and $30 VCCB on each of two charges of trespassing and theft, while Parris Daniels, 15 Lytle Street, paid $65 and $30 VCCB for trespassing.

John C. Feltz, 1938 Hall, Princeton University, was fined $115, $30 VCCB and placed on probation with the Borough court for one year for harassment. He was found not guilty on a second charge of lewdness.

Those who had their cases forwarded to the Prosecutor's Office are Isaac Livingston, 209 Ross Stevenson Circle, possession of a controlled dangerous substance; Zaina Prime, 43

Spruce Street, two counts of theft, one of malicious damage, and Kim Craig, 15 Olden Street, two counts of CDS possession, assault, possession of a weapon, and possession of drug paraphernalia.

Charges Dismissed. In Borough traffic court last week, Judge Annich, as he promised he would, dismissed charges against 12 drivers who were issued summonses for ignoring roadblock signs. He ruled the Borough had never passed an ordinance officially closing the streets.

Delmis Pinto, 142 Wither- spoon Street, paid three fines: $215 as an unlicensed driver and $65 each for careless driving and leaving the scene of an accident. Mary A. Cortez, 5 Hampshire Drive, Plainsboro, and Boris Nadgorny, 58 Dorann Avenue, were each fined $70 for speeding, and Yolanda Healy, 539 Pretty Brook Road, paid $65 for disregarding a stop sign.

In addition, he has to repay Acme $750 (the total amount of the seven bogus checks plus bank charges of $10 each on each check, for another $820). Grand total: $1,905.

Mai A. Ginsburg, 464 Ewing Street, was fined $65 for careless driving.

Township Mayor Honored With Publisher by NCCJ

Phyllis Marchand, mayor of Princeton Township, and Richard Bilotti, publisher of The Times of Trenton, will be honored on June 22 at the Princeton Marriott by the National Conference of Christians and Jews (NCCJ), a veteran human relations organization dedicated to tolerance and the reduction of prejudice. This is the third annual humanitarian awards dinner-dance in the Princeton area. NCCJ has also initiated and sponsored programs in conjunction with the Princeton Regional Schools and Princeton Theological Seminary. The programs focused on race relations and interfaith communication.

Both Ms. Marchand and Mr. Bilotti were chosen for their commitment to the community and their dedication to the ideals of tolerance and pluralism. Mayor Marchand, a resident of Princeton for 23 years, is a member of the Planning Board and serves as Police Commissioner.

A graduate of Skidmore College with a B.A. in English literature, Ms. Marchand is the indexer of the papers of Woodrow Wilson at Princeton University. She has actively served on boards and committees of The Jewish Center, B'nai Brith and Hadassah, as well as the community's interfaith council. She is proud of the fact that she had her Bat Mitzvah just a year ago.

Richard Bilotti, a journalist all his working life, came to Trenton in 1984 as publisher of The Times. He has received many journalism awards, and is presently serving his second year as chairman of the Greater Trenton Symphony Orchestra. He is a member of the board of directors of the Delaware Valley United Way, the Urban League of Metropolitan Trenton, and the Old Barracks Association.

In 1985, Mr. Bilotti introduced a program at The Times which makes it possible for charitable organizations to gain free advertising, promotion and marketing assistance for their programs and projects. Mr. Bilotti received the Media Award from the Italian-American Hall of Fame in 1985 and was the grand marshal of the Trenton Columbus Day Parade in 1987.

SOC Retiring Member Honored for Efforts

The Princeton Sewer Operating Committee has passed a resolution expressing appreciation and thanks to Richard Macgill on his retirement from the SOC.

Mr. Macgill served on the SOC as the Borough representative for seven years, starting in 1982. He was first appointed to Borough Council in 1978, to fill the seat vacated by Gustave E. Escher III, and was subsequently elected to two three-year terms on the Republican ticket.

His interest in the Sewer Operating Committee stemmed from his appointment as the public works liaison on Council but continued long past the end of his elected term. The resolution adopted by the current SOC members calls attention to the fact that "his performance of the duties and responsibilities as a member of the PSOC has been characterized by excellent and constructive contributions to municipal government in our community; and he has earned the admiration and high regard of those with whom he has come into contact."

J B Smith, chairman of the SOC, says that the tasks of the SOC members "will be more difficult without his keen analysis of all matters and especially those of finance. We will miss his friendship and dry wit."

Mr. Macgill's years on the SOC coincided with the efforts to get the leaky, aging collector system repaired, the creation of the sewer trust fund made up of fees collected from developers, the imposition of a ban on new hook-ups, and extensive engineering studies on the sources of infiltration and inflow into the system, as well as a rehabilitation plan and a $12 million bond issue to fund the repairs.

Today, one phase of those repairs, the replacement of a segment of the eastern sewer trunkline from River Road to Harrison Street, is almost complete, and work has begun on replacement of a longer segment of trunkline in the western section of town. Mr. Macgill says that a long term sewer line maintenance program is part of the overall plan and will lessen the need for expensive repairs in the future.

In addition to his work on the SOC, Mr. Macgill is remembered for his efforts on behalf of the Dinky station. Concerned from the time that he first went on Borough Council that the area around the Dinky looked like what he calls "the South Bronx of Princeton," he worked to find a way for the State or the two municipalities to take over the station by developing the area around it as income-producing property. None of the proposals came to fruition, and ultimately the University purchased the station and the adjacent area from New Jersey Transit.

$185 Stolen Last Week From Legion Building

Cash in the amount of $185 was stolen from the bar area of the American Legion building on Lytle Street between midnight and 6 Thursday morning.

There were no signs of forced entry. Police declined to reveal the exact location where the money had been kept.

A graduate student's car was looted early this month while it was parked in Lot 19 off Springdale Road. Scrape marks found around a door and a window lead police to believe that a coat hanger was used to gain entry.

Taken were a $300 brown leather jacket, a brief case containing 60 cassettes and a second briefcase containing 30 computer discs. Total loss: $730.

A 15-speed, blue Schwinn Sierra bicycle, valued at $200, has been stolen from in front of Fine Hall on the University campus, where it had been locked to a rack. The victim is a student.

Two Bicycle Stories With Different Slants

Bicycles are in the news every week in Princeton. Most concern routine campus thefts, but here are two bicycle stories with a different ending.

Last month, a 24-year-old graduate student saw a youth riding a bicycle that looked familiar. He recognized it as his 10-speed, $350 mountain bike that had been stolen in February. The student stopped the rider and questioned him as to where he had gotten the bike. The youth, a 15-year-old Princeton resident, replied that he had purchased it some three months earlier on the University campus.

The original owner told the youth that the hike was his. He would, he said, like to buy it back and would reimburse the youth the $120 he paid for it. Capt. Thomas Michaud, in reporting the incident, said the owner gave the youth a check, took possession of the bike — and then stopped payment.

"I'm not sure anybody will be charged," Capt. Michaud commented. "The boy's story is reasonable. He could have bought it legitimately. I don't think the teenager knowingly acted in the wrong. It just so happens he is out $120."

JERSEY CLASSICS CHAMPIONS: Led by Princeton High freshman Marcie Procaccini, the Jersey Classics above scored a clean sweep to win the under 16 girls' championship in the 10th Annual Memorial Day Massapequa Invitational Soccer Tournament. Sweeping all five of its tournament matches — four by shutouts — the Jersey Classics were the only undefeated girls' team in the 121-team tournament. They defeated teams from Massachusetts, Long Island, Virginia, Rhode Island and Canada. Cathy Neuger, a John Witherspoon School student, scored the game-winning goals in two of the team's five victories. The team is comprised of girls from Princeton, Bordentown, Hamilton and Delran and is sponsored by the Bordentown Elks 2085. Team members in the front row from left are Kara Welch, Cathy Neuger, Leslie Diefenbach, Marcie Procaccini, Kathi Vaughan, Michele Kafer, and Chris Fanelli. "We knew all the parties," Capt. Michaud continued. "It turned out," he said, "that the person who sold him the bike gave him a fictitious name and phone number. I suppose the youngster could have used better judgment in buying the bike." The juvenile officer, he reported, has completed his investigation and there will be no charges.

"We are still looking for the original thief," Capt. Michaud concluded. There were five white males who appeared to be students, he said. "One stepped forward and asked the youth if he wanted to buy a bicycle."

Simple Assault. The second bicycle incident, this one reported by Township Lt. Mario Musso, also took place in May. Simple assault, a cyclist and debris thrown from a vehicle, were involved in an incident at The Great Road bicycle path, which has been the source of some controversy.

A 20-year-old Princeton resident, cycling north on the Great Road around 7:30 in the evening, was some 100 feet beyond North Road, outside the bike path, when a large red Ford truck passed. It missed the cyclist by inches, Lt. Musso said. A passenger yelled to the cyclist to get back on the bike path and called him an obscene name.

The truck then stopped a short distance ahead. The passenger exited. As the cyclist attempted to steer around the left side of the truck, the driver, Lt. Musso said, began to exit. The cyclist then drove onto the bike path and both the driver and passenger returned to their truck.

The truck proceeded north on the Great Road and as the cyclist neared it, the passenger hurled a 5-inch-long object at the cyclist, missing him as he ducked. The cyclist noted the license number of the truck, which is registered to a Belle Mead company, Lt. Russo reported.

The cyclist is willing to sign a complaint, Lt. Musso said, if the two suspects are found. They could be charged with violation of statute 39:4-64 of the motor vehicle code — throwing objects from a vehicle on a highway — and with simple assault.

The cyclist apparently did not violate any traffic laws. Previously, Lt. Musso said, it was against the law for cyclists to ride outside a bike path where such paths were provided. A few years ago, cyclists prevailed upon officials to leave the decision to use or not use a bike path to the discretion of the cyclist, claiming that many paths were poorly maintained.

Lt. Musso described the bike path on the Great Road as unique. He was not aware, he said, of any other bike path that had concrete barriers on a highway, such as those that were recently replaced on the Great Road after it was resurfaced.

NATIONAL ROOFING & SIDING

Locally owned and operated by John Pillitter
"Over 14 years in the industry"

A good roof and siding is an important factor in the protection of your building investment. A firm well known in the Princeton and Mercer County areas for the high quality installation and maintenance of all types of roofing and siding is National Roofing & Siding, phone 921-8484 or 448-4794.

The professionals at National Roofing & Siding stand by their work. They feature a great variety of roofing and siding for residential, commercial and industrial applications.

Your roofing and siding represents a small percent of your building investment so it is said. Yet, its value is out of all proportion to its costs; for a roof and siding acts as a guardiao to your building and all its contents.

Just as you take inventory of any possessions periodically, so you should check up on your roofing and siding. Let these specialists at National Roofing & Siding examine your roof. They may find that it is in good condition, ready for many years of protection, in which case they'll be happy to tell you so. They may find defects that can easily be remedied but which if neglected, might soon dangerously weaken your roof or again they may discover that your roof is so badly worn that it needs a new covering to protect it and to prevent a costly leak.

For a roofing and siding contractor with a reputation for integrity, competence and expertise in the Princeton area call National Roofing & Siding at 921-8484 or 448-4794.

Five Property Owners Cited for Renovations

The Historical Society has instituted Preservation Awards to recognize owners who have put extra effort into preserving and restoring Princeton's historic and architectural heritage.

Awards are given for projects on buildings in Princeton, or visible from its borders, affecting properties that are listed or eligible for listing in the National Register of Historic Places, or that contribute to listed districts. Residential, commercial, and institutional properties are eligible. Criteria for awards include an effort to preserve or restore authentic materials, and work based on documentary, pictorial, or physical evidence.

This year's awards were presented at the Historical Society's annual Bainbridge Club party, held at Mansgrove, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Toms Royal.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Dixon were recognized for their restoration of the facade of the Worth-Bruere House at 619 Princeton-Lawrenceville Road. The front section of this house, the owner's residence for Worth's Mill, was constructed in 1811 or 1813, although the rear of the building may incorporate an earlier residence built prior to 1740 by Giles or Samuel Worth.

Mr. and Mrs. Dixon removed stucco from the facade, repointing the stone with a lime and sand mixture in a manner appropriate for the building's 19th-century date.

Princeton University was recognized for renovations to Prospect. Designed by John Notman and built as a private dwelling in 1851, Prospect became the official residence of the presidents of the College of New Jersey in 1878. In 1968 it was adapted for use as the University's faculty club. Recent renovations, undertaken to provide the building with central air conditioning and bring it into conformity with building and fire codes, also included substantial restoration.

The exterior stonework was cleaned and repointed with tinted mortar in original colors — orange and purple. Most spectacular was the restoration of the trompe l'oeil painting of the halls and rotunda and of the original rococo-style chandeliers. The architect for the project was Venturi, Rauch and

RESTORED WITH CARE: Short and Ford Architects were cited by the Historical Society of Princeton for their work in restoring the interior of Prospect House on the Princeton University campus. This view shows the rotunda above the central staircase with restored stained glass, skylight and ornamental paint work. Scott-Brown, with Short & Ford and Heritage Studies, Inc. as consultants on restoration aspects. Frank Welsh performed the testing and analysis required to determine the original paint scheme.

Lower Pyne Associates was recognized for the Lower Pyne Building, 92 Nassau Street. This building, constructed in 1896, was presented to Princeton University by Moses Taylor Pyne, and designed by his favorite architect, Raleigh C. Gildersleeve. Originally the building housed shops on the first floor and dormitory suites on the two upper floors.

In the 1950s, when code requirements made the dormitory use impractical, the upper floors were converted to office space, but by the 1980s these were no longer considered safe. In 1984, the University sold the property to a private investor.

Restoration of the exterior was undertaken, including repair and replacement of damaged woodwork in the gable peaks, as well as reinstallation of long-missing window boxes. Sensitive and safe adaptation of the upper stories fitted them for modern office use, while retaining such features as matchboard wainscoting and brick fireplaces with Princeton seals. Architect for the project was Short & Ford, with Heritage Studies, Inc. as historical consultant.

David Newton, general partner, accepted the award on behalf of Lower Pyne Associates.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lamb received an award for work on 6 Hodge Road (corner of Bayard Lane). This Shingle Style house was designed for geologist William Berryman Scott in the late 1880s by A. Page Brown, who had recently left the offices of McKim Mead & White. Like other houses in this style, it derives its architectural presence from the bold and simple geometry of its elements and from the patterning of the shingling applied to them.

With their architect-contractor, Thomas Lee, the Lambs have renewed the shingles, many of which had to be cut by hand to fit, thus preserving the character of the building.

The Trust Company of Princeton was honored for 14 Nassau Street. The Carroll Building is a 19th-century structure, raised and altered to a Classical Revival appearance in the early 20th-century. In adapting it for bank use, architects Hans Sander and Lawrence Tarantino restored an appropriate window on the Nassau Street facade, while minimizing the intrusiveness of such features as a night deposit slot and MAC machine.

In addition, the interior, while frankly contemporary, responds to the classical style of the building. Detlef Felchow accepted the award on behalf of the bank.

For Many, the Dream of Owning a Home Is Realized by a Griggs Farm Condominium

The American dream is to own one's own home. For young married couples and the grown children of longtime Princeton residents who are starting out on their first real jobs, the dream of owning a home in Princeton has become more and more of an illusion as they watched prices of real estate here soar to unprecedented levels. The Borough Township tax assessor reports that a recent study of 33 house sales in the Township showed the average sales price to be $414,128, with only one price lower than $161,000 and none below $115,000.

At Griggs Farm, however, the price of a two-bedroom, two-story condominium townhouse is $124,500 and that of a three-bedroom townhouse $134,500. Griggs Farm is the Princeton Community Housing development between Route 206 and Cherry Valley Road. As a nonprofit housing organization, PCH can build housing that is not labelled "luxury" or targeted for the high-income real estate market.

These prices are for a limited time, an introductory offer to acquaint the public with the fact that, as Jennifer Guberman puts it, "the answer to the commonly-held assumption 'I can't afford to live in Princeton' is Griggs Farm."

Early Purchaser, Ms. Guber

man has purchased a three-bedroom Griggs Farm townhouse and expects to move in this fall. She says it is only beginning to sink in that she is going to be a homeowner after all these years. A single parent with two teenage sons at Princeton High School, she works at Princeton University in the Romance Languages and Literatures Department.

For a brief period 20 years ago, when she was first married, she and her husband owned half a house in Philadelphia. They lived in Switzerland for five years and then in Pennington, all the while renting. After a divorce, she and the boys moved into Princeton Community Village. Her faith in Princeton Community Housing, which built and manages PCV and Elm Court, prompted her to select a Griggs Farm condominium, sight unseen, from the layout plan last fall.

"This is really wonderful for me," Ms. Guberman says. "This is the move I have been waiting for." She says that for two years she has been looking at houses in the area, hoping to remain in Princeton so her sons could continue to go to Princeton Schools. "Anything I could have bought would have meant half again as much money and was usually in bad condition. At Griggs Farm we are getting new construction and all sorts of wonderful, energy-saving fixtures."

Ms. Guberman says she likes what she sometimes calls the "frontier look" or sometimes refers to as the "Cape Cod look" at Griggs Farm — grey clapboard houses with white trim facing each other across a short street, several with balconies overlooking the street. The purchase was made possible when her father sold property he owned in the midwest and divided the proceeds among his children. With this windfall, she has been able to purchase extras — an end unit, a fireplace, a balcony, a window greenhouse and a location on the common green.

Princeton Community Housing sought to address the dearth of affordable housing on two levels as it planned the Griggs Farm development. On the one hand, the development will provide 140 units of the Township's fair-share quota of Mt. Laurel units. These are sales and rental units priced according to income for which a lottery was held and interviewing is still being conducted.

Then there are the 140 market-rate townhouses, such as the one Ms. Guberman is purchasing. All residents will have the use of the tennis courts (a big selling point for Ms. Guberman), volleyball courts, basketball hoops, tot lots, and club house. All will be eligible for Princeton schools, Princeton recreation facilities and senior citizen services.

Basic Design. All the townhouse units share the same basic design. Downstairs is a good-sized living room which flows into a dining area adjacent to a compact kitchen. The front door is positioned opposite sliding doors leading to the patio, to give light and airiness. There is a lavatory and space ready for a washer and dryer on the first floor.

The bedrooms in the two-bedroom unit are both generous in size and are separated by a full bath. Each bedroom has two closets. In the three-bedroom unit, the master bedroom is a good size, the other two bedrooms are small. Each bedroom has a single closet, but there are two full baths.

Save on Utility Bills. Griggs Farm features quality construction throughout and an emphasis on energy conservation. According to Harriet Bryan, a co-chairman of the Griggs Farm Council for PCH, the framing consists of 2 x 6's instead of 2 x 4's, which has allowed the installation of thicker insulation in the walls and ceilings. Similarly, all units are equipped with Andersen "high performance" windows which deflect heat in summer and hold in warmth in winter.

These features, plus an energy-efficient heat pump for both heating and air conditioning, which is also standard for all units, will mean savings in utility bills for all residents, Mrs. Bryan says. The heat pump is designed to encourage residents to leave the thermostat at a setting for their own comfort level without changing it. "Very few townhouse developers are putting in features like these," she notes.

The New Jersey Institute of Technology, which was contracted by the State Department of Community Affairs to survey nine different developments with an affordable housing component around the State, including Griggs Farm, backs up her assertion. Water-saving Crane toilets also are being installed in all units. These toilets are designed to flush efficiently us-settle into after a honeymoon cruise. According to Kate, "It's very difficult to get a better apartment in Manhattan, you almost have to leave the city. We go to the opera a lot, and I wanted to be where I could get to the Met. Princeton is a beautiful little community, and the townhouse was affordable. We looked at a lot of places, but this was really nice. I liked the fact that it was close to the village."

NEW HOMEOWNER: Jennifer Guberman shows off an end unit Griggs Farm townhouse similar to the one she has purchased for herself and her two boys. Prices of these townhouses are well below other housing in Princeton, but many people do not realize that market rate units are available in this development.

For the Reillys, and for the older couple in Brooklyn, the name Princeton Community Housing does not have particular significance. But for Ms. Guberman, her trust in PCH was a decisive factor. She says that when she picked out her townhouse last fall, "I knew it would be good, because I know what a fine job PCH has done and how good it has been at Princeton Community Village from the start."

Grateful for having been offered what she describes as "decent" housing for herself and her two small children 13 years ago, she says the Village was a supportive community where they felt very welcomed. Now that the time has come to move up, something that is also part of the American dream, she says, "It's time to make room for another family which could use assistance. We're standing on our own feet now."

ing 1 1/2 gallons of water instead of the five to six gallons commonly required.

Mrs. Bryan thinks that in the 1990s all new construction in the Delaware River Basin area will be required to have water-saving plumbing such as this.

Privacy and Community. The overall design of the development by the Geddes Brecher Qualls Cunningham firm was to encourage "a wide range of personal, household, neighborly and community relations to flourish," as the architects noted in their concept plan. "A sense of individuality and privacy for each household is fostered by the clear identity of each house, front yard, parking and backyard garden."

At the same time a sense of neighborliness is fostered by the physical layout in which house entrances face each other, groups of houses create a court or mews, groups of courts open off a square, and groups of squares face a central commons or village green.

The notion of neighborliness was a selling point to the Princeton couple who have bought a unit for the husband's parents who are now living in Brooklyn. According to the wife, who asked that their names not be used, Griggs Farm seemed like a nice place for an older couple who are used to living where there are lots of people and social interaction.

"I don't think older people like to be isolated," the wife said. "They need a place where they can make friends. They want their independence, and at the same time they will be near by where we can help them out."

She said her in-laws were impressed by how nice the units were when she and her husband brought them to Princeton to see them. "All brand new, and at a decent price. Where can you get something that nice at that price with a Princeton address?"

Newlyweds. Princeton as a college town within easy commuting distance of Manhattan was the drawing card for William Reilly, 52, and his 48-year-old wife, Kate. This couple were married last Wednesday and have purchased a Griggs Farm townhouse to

Registration Under Way For After School Program

Registration is being accepted for the YWCA After School Program for the 1989-90 school year. Serving the communities of Princeton, Lawrenceville, and Washington Township, the program provides care to children in grades K-6 from the end of the school day until 6 p.m.

In addition to regular daily care, the program is available at no extra cost on early dismissal days and from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m. on most school holidays and the spring recess. Holidays in the past year included trips to the Hayden Planetarium, the circus at Madison Square Garden, the Statue of Liberty, the Philadelphia art museum and Philadelphia zoo.

"A child does not have to be the best, but just the best that he or she can be," is the philosophy of the program, according to Rose Nevruz, program coordinator. The curriculum features arts and crafts, indoor and outdoor sports, field trips, Red Cross swim instruction, daily homework time and academic enrichment, with tutorial assistance from the Princeton University Community House student volunteers.

Daily snacks, as approved by the New Jersey Department of Education, are provided. The staff is comprised of trained, experienced adults -- the ratio of staff to students is 1 to 7.

The program serves children from Community Park, Riverside, Littlebrook, John Witherspoon and St. Paul's School, Ben Franklin, Lawrence Elementary, Lawrence Intermediate, Slackwood, and St. Anne's in Lawrenceville, and Sharnn School in Washington Township. Students from Littlebrook, St. Paul's and John Witherspoon are transported at no additional charge to program sites suitable for them.

In Princeton, a special kindergarten service is offered during the six-week phase-in period. A Before-School Breakfast program is available for Lawrence Elementary, Ben Franklin, and Slackwood School in Lawrenceville.

After School Program participants, as YWCA members, are eligible for enrollment in the many YWCA programs that include German, French, Spanish, Chinese, art and cooking classes. Their programs are available at a discount fee with transportation provided from all program sites to the YWCA at no additional cost.

Financial assistance is available for those who qualify. In order to secure a place, early registration is important. For further information, call Ms. Nevruz, 497-2114.

Dinosaurs Are Focus Of Library Programs

The "Read-A-Saurus" summer program at the Mary Jacobs Library in Rocky Hill will begin on Monday and run through Friday, August 4.

Children ages 5 to 12, who can read by themselves, may register in person any time between these dates. The first 100 children to register will receive a dinosaur helium balloon.

Children who read six or more books during the course of the program will receive a reading certificate as well as a gift certificate from either Burger King, Inc. or the Hill Top Sub Station of Blawenburg. A weekly drawing for extra prizes will be held every Thursday after the film program at 1:30.

The library in Rocky Hill will present a program on dinosaurs with Martha Landy on Saturday, June 24, at 10:30 a.m.

Ms. Landy will discuss dinosaur names and their meanings, diets, behaviors and habits. She will demonstrate how paleontologists work and where the dinosaur "facts" come from. She will discuss some of the myths that have arisen about the prehistoric creatures.

Registration is required for this program, which is limited to children aged 5 years and older. For further information and to register, call the library at 924-7073.

Readings at University Are Open to the Public

Summer Programs Set By Recreation Dept.

The Recreation Department is offering special swimming and lacrosse programs this summer.

A Splashercise program, offering aerobic exercise in the water for older adults, will be held on Saturdays from 10 to 11 in the Community Park Pool. The program begins this Saturday and ends August 19. Open to people 55 years of age and older, Splashercise is ideal for people with arthritis, because the water takes the weight off the body.

The cost is $10 for Princeton residents and $20 for non-residents.

The Recreation Department also offers a swim for the disabled at the Community Park Pool. The program is held on Sundays from 10 to 11, and Mondays and Fridays from 5:30 to 7. The cost is $15 for residents and $30 for non-residents.

The Recreation Department provides a Nolan pool lift and lifeguarding supervision, however it does not provide therapy or physical assistance. Princeton Medical Center will continue to provide therapists "when possible," according to the Recreation Department, but the Department recommends bringing along a friend who would be willing to help if assistance is needed.

Swimming, Diving, Swim-field Games will be held on ming and diving lessons are Tuesday and Thursday evenings available for children age 4 and up through mid-August. The

Landau Picnic Bus Schedule

Two school buses will be available to transport seniors to the Landau Senior Citizen Picnic Friday at Prospect Gardens on the Princeton University campus.

The first bus will depart from Elm Court at 3:20 and go to Redding Circle (3:30), Community Park Pool Parking lot (3:40), Mt Pisgah Church (3:45) and Witherspoon/Green Streets (3:50).

The officers will relay the Special Olympics Torch to Palmer Stadium to officially open the 1989 Special Olympic Summer Games that will be held June 27-30 at Princeton University.

Three police torch runs originating in Long Beach Island, Elizabeth and Trenton will converge at approximately 6 p.m. June 27 at Nassau Street and Washington Road. The Olympic Torch will then be carried into Palmer Stadium. The ceremonies are open to everyone.

Princeton Joins Protest Against Beijing Killings

Princeton University President Harold T. Shapiro is one of 15 University presidents who have sent a letter to Chairman Li Tiying of China's State Education Commission denouncing the "wholesale killing" in Tiananmen Square and appealing for the cessation of violence in Beijing. "Our institutions have tried to help in training a new generation of Chinese students and professionals to make up for the terrible losses of the cultural revolution," the presidents wrote. "It would be a new loss to China if they were deterred from returning home to make their contribution to a brighter future for their country."

Most of the universities represented have large numbers of Chinese students, and have students and faculty members studying and working in China. In the 1988-89 academic year, Princeton had 10 undergraduates and 99 graduate students enrolled who are citizens of the People's Republic of China. Through its Princeton-in-Asia program, Princeton had 43 recent graduates in China teaching English as a second language at several universities. Princeton has urged all program participants to return to the United States.

Last Friday, some 200 people, including Dean of the Graduate College Theodore Ziolkowski and Vice President Robert Durkee, attended a memorial service in Whig Hall for China's slain pro-Democracy demonstrators. The service was organized by the Hong Kong Student Association, the Graduate Chinese Students Association and the Friendship Association of Chinese Students and Scholars.

Annual Firemen's Parade Scheduled for June 30

The annual Princeton Firemen's Parade will be held on Friday, June 30, starting at 7 p.m. at the corner of Nassau and Chestnut Streets. The parade will go down Nassau Street to Borough Hall. Ceremonies after the parade will include valor awards to three members of the Department who risked their lives to save a man trapped in an underground storage tank. Additional awards will be given to members having more than 25 years of active service. The firefighters and their equipment will then be inspected by members of Borough Council and Township Committee.

This year's parade will include the three fire companies that make up the Princeton Fire Department, the Princeton First Aid Squad, the Ladies Auxiliary marching unit, and three bands.

The first firemen's inspection by the governing body was requested by Fire Chief John J. Stryker on July 5, 1884. The inspection was held on July 10 in front of Mercer Hall, which was located on Nassau Street between Tulane Street and Allen's. The Fire Department at this time showed off some of its newest equipment, such as canvas-jacketed rubber hose and a 1883 Rumsey and Company horse-drawn ladder truck. In 1883, the first fire hydrants were installed, and area newspaper commented on how the "roads were once again passable" now that the work was done.

Members of the Fire Department hope that residents will join them on Nassau Street on Friday, June 30.

Letter to Freeholders Asks Borough Exemption

Councilman Mark Freda plans to send a letter this week to the Mercer County Board of Freeholders asking it to exempt the Borough from the County ordinance requiring all municipalities to take part in the County recycling program. This program is scheduled to begin September 1.

Also, bids will go out this week for a new garbage collection contract. Recycling will be included in the bids.

Mr. Freda said that he feels the Borough could get its program operating before the County's, which he feels will begin later than September 1. The Borough's recycling program would be set up for 12 months. It would include an option, at that time, to join the County program, if it is in operation.

"The County still has to get State Department of Environmental Protection approval for its program," said Mr. Freda. "and I understand that the DEP feels there are problems with it. The State has 45 days to review, and the County has 30 days to get back to the State. I think they would be past the September 1 starting date."

The Borough hopes to start its recycling on August 1. The curbside pickup would take place two times a month. Recycled items would be glass, aluminum cans, and paper.

BLACK VINE WEEVIL

Adult black vine weevil activity will begin in the next few weeks. Examine last year's growth now for signs of old damage (notching along leaf margins) to know which plants to expect damage on this year. It is doubtful that you will see the pest itself as it feeds at night. If you do see a pest feeding on leaf margins during the day causing similar type of notching it is probably the two-banded Japanese weevil. This insect is a small (1/4") tan-colored weevil with two brown bands across its back. Plants on which black vine weevil feeding occurs include yew, euonymus, ivy, rhododendron, and azalea.

You should also be aware of the cankerworm and gypsy moth which are feeding at this time. Their primary target is the oak trees but they do attack maples and other types of deciduous trees. Spider mites are also active in the evergreen trees and shrubs. Aphids are now starting to appear on a number of deciduous trees, and the second generation of leaf miner (birches and hollies) will be starting in the next two weeks.

The drama will open Thursday, July 13, at 8 p.m. in the air-conditioned Philip J. Levin Theater of the Rutgers Arts Center, George Street at Route 18.

Children's Musical Set

Artists Showcase Theatre, 1150 Indiana Avenue, Trenton, will present a musical for, about, and starring, children on Friday through Sunday.

Called Audition, the musical combines dialogue and songs that confront the expectations, fears, and anxieties experienced by children who come to audition for a part in their school play.

The play and the score, including such songs as "Always a Tree" and "I Think I'm Gonna Faint," were written and composed by the director, Paul Sulyok. Mr. Sulyok is a graduate of Westminster Choir College and a music specialist in the East Windsor School District. He has written a number of musical plays for his students and was recently named the East Windsor School District Teacher of the Year.

Performance times are 8 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, and 4 p.m. on Sunday. Admission is $6. Doors will open an hour before the performance. For more information, call 259-0062.

The play, written for the stage from John Steinbeck's novel of the same name, deals with two itinerants, George and Lenny, who face a world of jealousy, hatred and murder during the Depression. The production is under the direction of Edward Stern. Joseph Miklojick Jr. is the set designer. Lighting has been designed by Brenda M. Veltre, with costumes by Margaret Shyne Benson.

Of Mice and Men will preview Tuesday and Wednesday, July 11 and 12, open Thursday, July 13, and run through July 30. All performances will begin at 8 p.m. The theater is dark Mondays.

'Romantic Comedy' Due For Off-Broadstreet Run

Bernard Slade's Romantic Comedy will open Friday, June 23, for a five-weekend run at the Off-Broadstreet Theatre in Hopewell.

The story is about a successful and slightly arrogant New York playwright named Jason and Phoebe, the dowdy grade school teacher from Vermont who has adored his writing for years. They meet on Jason's wedding day and decide to write old-fashioned romantic comedies together. Their collaboration perseveres through brilliant successes as well as flops, through marriages, children and best-selling books.

Jason will be portrayed by Steven Davison of New Brunswick, while Laura Jackson of Lawrence will play Phoebe. The role of Jason's wife Allison will be performed by Catherine Rowe of Somerset, while Mark Moede of Trenton will be seen as Leo. Beverly Gorelick of Somerset will portray Jason's publicity agent and longtime friend.

Off-Broadstreet Theatre features dessert one hour before showtime. On Friday and Saturday evenings the doors open at 7 for dessert with curtain at 8. Sunday matinees feature dessert at 1:30 with curtain at 2:30. Admission Friday and Sunday is $13.75; Saturday admission is $15. Tickets include dessert and the show.

For reservations call 466-2766. The theater is at 5 South Greenwood Avenue, Hopewell.

MUSIC

Jazz Musician to Play At McCarter with Quartet

Saxophonist Branford Marsalis will perform at McCarter Theatre on Saturday at 8 p.m.

Mr. Marsalis will appear as part of McCarter's "Just Jazz" series. Other concerts scheduled throughout the summer include Wynton Marsalis, Nancy Wilson, Pat Metheny, Sonny Rollins, Freddie Hubbard and Betty Carter.

It's been said about Branford Marsalis that he has more lives than a cat. There's Branford Marsalis, jazz band leader, whose album Renaissance was a top seller in 1988. There's Branford Marsalis, sideman, nominated for a Grammy for his swinging guest spot on The Duke Ellington Orchestra's Digital Duke.

There's the classical Marsalis, whose lyrical Romance for Saxophone was a best seller in 1986. Then there's pop Branford Marsalis, who has embarked on world and United States tours with rock star Sting and The Blue Turtle Band. Not to mention Marsalis the actor, in Danny DeVito's hit movie Throw Momma from the Train and Spike Lee's School Daze.

But as far and wide as Mr. Marsalis's musical and film projects have taken him, jazz is the home base. Those who've followed his development as a musician appreciate his deep devotion to jazz. His earliest performances with his brother Wynton in the award-winning lineup of Art Blakey & the Jazz Messengers, their time together with the Herbie Hancock Quartet and VSOP II and on Wynton's first four solo LP's — all set the stage for Branford's session work with more than a dozen acts ranging from Miles Davis and Dizzy Gillespie to Tina Turner and Teena Marie.

Ticket prices range from $17 to $23. For more information call 683-8000, Monday through Saturday, 9 to 6.

Chamber Concerts Set By Faculty of Waterloo

The Waterloo Festival's 14th season will open the weekend of June 23 and 24.

The orchestra concerts and an entertainment series featuring jazz, pop, folk and country artists are held under a tent at Waterloo Village, a restored colonial and 19th-century hamlet near Stanhope. The Waterloo School of Music will again be held at Princeton University. On Friday evenings, starting Friday, June 23, there will be chamber music concerts in Richardson Auditorium featuring performances by the faculty artists of this summer music school.

These concerts will feature music from the baroque period through the 20th century. The first program will open with Bach's "Ricercar a tre" from The Musical Offering performed on both the harpsichord and the piano. Each Waterloo chamber concert will include a section of this monumental work, in transcriptions for various instrumental combinations, so that by the end of the summer, the work will have been performed in its entirety.

The program will also include Beethoven's String Trio in G Major, Op. 9, No. 1, the Sonata for trumpet by Kent Kennan, and Ludwig Thuille's Sextet for Piano and Winds in B-flat major.

Tickets are available at the Richardson box office Monday to Thursday from 4 to 6 and Friday from 4 to 8. For information call 452-5000.

We believe that academic excellence later in life is largely due to an enthusiasm for learning inspired during the early years when a child's motivation is high and his/her chances for success are good. Students in our program in no way leave childhood behind for the sole purpose of intellectual growth. Rather, they celebrate the special gifts of their age: curiosity, flexibility, spontaneity, will, and wonder.

We do not discriminate against race, color or creed.

speaks on A PRETTY WAY TO ADD EXTRA SEATING.

Here's an idea on how to add extra seating to a room in a very pretty way.

The idea is to consider a new loveseat, either in conjunction with a sofa or by itself in an area where you need more seating.

With the variety of colors and fabrics on today's loveseats, and the variety of styles, this can certainly make a pretty addition to a room.

And, it also gives you an addition that's useful — and comfortable, too.

Don't forget, too, that loveseats can be helpful in other rooms — aside from the living room — where perhaps you don't have space for a large sofa but still have the need for comfortable and beautiful seating. The right loveseat can be an ideal solution for that problem.

Loveseats are a great idea in places like guest rooms, family rooms and bedrooms.

When you see our sofas and loveseats you can begin to visualize how best you can use the loveseat — whether it should be with the sofa, or used elsewhere.

We invite you to see our selection. We now have floor samples on SALE for your summer home and lamps are specially priced.

IT'S NEW To Us

Toning Tables Highlight Futureshape Figure Salon

"Our exercise system is definitely tailored to meet the client's individual needs. This is a very important part of our program," says David Tchorni, co-owner with his wife Kathy Tchorni, of Futureshape Figure Salon.

The new salon, which is located in the Carnegie Professional Building at Princeton MarketFair on Route 1, is the Tchornis' first venture into the retail business. Both of them had been interested in exercise in varying degrees, but Kathy Tchorni admits that "I never liked some exercises, and I could never do aerobics. So the toning table system really appealed to me."

"At first I was skeptical, however," she adds. "My aunt had been telling me about the tables, and when I saw how wonderful she looked — more toned, she lost inches and she really had a glow — I decided to try them. When I got on the machines, I was really convinced."

Toning tables actually date back to the 1930's, report the Tchornis, and they have had a resurgence of popularity in the 1980s. "They were very popular in the 1940s and '50s, and then seemed to fall out of favor. Now they are popular again in the United States, and they are also starting up in Europe. The Futureshape equipment and program is known all over the world."

"Our customers have been very enthusiastic," says Mrs. Tchorni, and we have also been getting a lot of referrals. We have people of all ages, from 18 to 65 (those under 18 need parental permission), and both men and women have been using the machines. We offer a free trial initially so people can see what the tables are like," she explains. "Then if a person signs up for a session, we will weigh and measure them — which is optional — and discuss what their goal is for themselves, whether it's toning, loss of inches, etc."

"We also have special Futureshape computer information on appropriate measurements for different body sizes, heights, builds, etc. This is a very individualized program. We really talk to each person and find out what they want."

TIP-TOP TONING: "We think the Futureshape equipment is the best we have seen," explain David and Kathy Tchorni, owners of Futureshape Figure Salon, located in the Carnegie Professional Building at Princeton MarketFair. Motorized toning tables are the key to the Futureshape exercise system, which emphasizes isometric and isotonic high repetition movements.

Not Aerobic. "The machines are helpful in losing inches and toning," she adds, "but they are not aerobic. We do have an exercise bike, however, and we also recommend that people walk as another form of exercise. Of course, some people are working out or doing other exercise at home. In fact, I've often been surprised at what good shape many of the customers are in."

For those clients who want to lose weight, the Tchornis are glad to help out with suggestions about well-balanced meals and wise eating habits. "We let people know of groups such as Weight Watchers," says Mrs. Tchorni, "and we also have a diet planner computer program which provides nutritional information and breakdowns on calories, sodium, cholesterol, etc. in specific foods, and it helps construct a proper diet. They should remember to keep the fat intake down and drink a lot of water. I must say I'm also much more aware since I've been exercising about what we're eating. You're just a lot more careful about what you put in your mouth."

Clients spend eight minutes on each of the toning tables, and this offers a pleasant way of both exercising and relaxing, say the Tchornis. "The Futureshape system uses seven different motorized machines which work different muscle groups with high repetitions. The client reclines on the table, and there can often be as many as 200 or 300 repetitions of the same movement," explains Mr. Tchorni.

Stomach, hips, waist, thighs, calves and upper body can all be exercised. The high repetition of the movements helps to tighten, tone, and strengthen muscles and increase overall flexibility. The Tchornis recommend that people come in at least three times a week initially for the best results. "Our machines do offer excellent results, but as in anything, the more commitment on your part, the better it will be."

Stress Reducing. "I think what is especially nice about our program is that it is so flexible," says Mrs. Tchorni. "You can both relax and exercise. It can definitely reduce stress, too. Sometimes people come in and say how tired they are and that they almost cancelled. Then after being on a few machines, they feel much better. Some of them are especially relaxing. For example, the Circulator gives an overall massage with gentle vibrations that increase and improve blood circulation, eliminate excess fluid and relax the muscles."

"Also," she adds, "the tables are really wonderful for people if they have a condition that keeps them from doing heavy exercise. On the machines, they won't have to expend the energy because the table will do it for you. Of course, if someone has just had an operation or has a specific physical condition or injury, it is best to check with a doctor before using the machines."

Adds Mr. Tchorni: "There can be a passive, active or advanced stage on the machines, too, depending on how much work the individual does while on the table. Not all other salons have these stages. They often use the passive stage. A lot of our customers like to participate actively, however. The active stage can be reached very quickly, with the body offering some resistance to the table. In the advanced stage, you are doing some other exercises, along with the table, such as leg lifts. It's really up to the client, and how he or she feels about being more involved."

The Tchornis take special care in monitoring their clients' progress. "We watch the exercises very carefully," notes Mrs. Tchorni. "We are always nearby. We start the tables operating, and we keep a close watch."

Prices at Futureshape range from $10 for one session to $275 for 48 sessions, but there is a special sale in progress now through July 15, offering reduced rates. One session is $9, six are $48.60, 12 are $89, 24 are $148.50 and 48 are $247.50. There is also a lunchtime special from 12 to 2, with any three tables $3.50 or 20 days for $60.

The Tchornis are very optimistic about the future of the toning tables and about their own program. "We really emphasize personal service and attention here. We have tried to develop a special relationship with our customers," says Mr. Tchorni. "They are really wonderful people, and they become friends."

CREATIVE COMBOS: "The combination of selling pizza and cookies seems to be working well. They seem to complement each other. We're a take-out place, and people often come in for pizza and then pick up some cookies and vice versa. We also deliver both," says Victor Sota, manager of Teresa's Pizza and David's Cookies at 124 Nassau Street. Mr. Sota is shown with Teresa's employees Mike Symon and Jose Delvalle.

to are a good topping with the pesto, and eggplant, spinach and broccoli are good on white."

Mr. Sota, who admits to eating pizza seven days a week, says that a particular favorite is the "Sicilian Special." "This has a thick crust and different toppings. The 'Veggie' is very popular and includes all kinds of vegetables. Another version of the Sicilian Special is with pepperoni, sausage, meatballs, roasted peppers and onions."

David's Cookies, which recently moved its headquarters to Texas, sends batches of cookies to the Nassau Street store each week, and Mr. Sota believes they are the finest cookies around. "They are really top quality," he remarks. "We think they are the best cookies on the market. Chocolate chunk is always the most popular, but white chocolate macademia is a close second."

Heavenly Assortment. Other popular cookies are oatmeal raisin, macademia chocolate chunk and chocolate white chocolate chunk. David's brownies are also available, as are canolis, the popular Italian sweet cream dessert. Coffee, hot chocolate, and a variety of sodas and juices, including Orangina, Elliott's natural juices and New York Seltzer (black cherry and vanilla cream soda) are also on hand.

Prices start at $1.10 for a slice of red pizza, $1.35 for white and pesto and $2.25 for the Sicilian Special. A small, 12-inch pie starts at $5.50 and a large 16-inch at $7.70. It can go up to $15 or $16 for "The Works," says Mr. Sota. Cookies are $7.49 a pound and are available in all amounts, including half-pound, one- and two-pound tins.

"We also offer free delivery in Princeton all day Monday to Friday and from 4 p.m. on weekends. There is no extra cost," says Mr. Sota.

"I really like the area here," he adds. "People especially seem to appreciate the quality of our pizza. It gives a good feeling when we know we are putting out a good product and people enjoy it."

"We've been very popular with the students here, but we are also anxious to serve the whole community. We want people to come in and try our great pizza."

Teresa's Pizza and David's Cookies are open Monday to Thursday, 11 to 10, Friday and Saturday, 11 to midnight, and Sunday, 12 to 10.

"I truly enjoy helping them and seeing how happy they are when they progress. It's a happy time. They begin to feel better about themselves. Helping them achieve what they set out to do is very rewarding."

"Also," he continues, "this is a very good location for people. It's really the best of both worlds. MarketFair is very close to Princeton, with access to Route 1, but also reachable from Canal Pointe."

Adds Mrs. Tchornik: "We want people to know that we try to help them look the very best they can. They often look very well when they come in and just want to stay in as good shape as possible. You can definitely continue to look well, no matter what your age. Someone 45 will not look 20 again, but they can certainly look terrific for the age they are."

Futureshape is open Monday-Friday 8 to 9 and Saturday 9 to 2. The Tchorniks suggest calling for an appointment to avoid waiting, 243-9373.

Cookies and Pizza Make An Irresistible Combo

In the mood for some pizza? Or maybe you can't resist a tasty chocolate chip cookie. You can now satisfy both of these cravings with a visit to Teresa's Pizza and David's Cookies, located at 124 Nassau Street.

Raoul Momo purchased David's Cookies last September and shortly thereafter began offering Teresa's Pizza to customers. In the ensuing months, it has proved a very successful combination. "Cookie sales have increased since we brought in the pizza," notes manager Victor Sota. "Also, we've done some promotions that have been especially popular, such as 'buy one pizza and get free cookies.' People seem to enjoy both products. We get a lot of walk-in traffic here. Many people come in at lunchtime and get a couple of slices of pizza to take back to the office, and lots of people stop in for one or two cookies. We really get a cross-section. All types and ages. We see men in business suits and kids on skateboards."

Both Teresa's Pizza and David's Cookies are known for their quality, adds Mr. Sota, who had worked at the original Teresa's Pizza in New Brunswick, also owned by Mr. Momo. Business has been going so well that two more Teresa's Pizza locations will soon be opening in the surrounding area.

"The quality of the pizza is outstanding," comments Mr. Sota. "This really sets us apart. You only need one slice to find out. All the ingredients are natural, and the pizzas are made here on the premises. We make our own white sauce and pesto sauce, too."

Three Sauces. "We have three different sauces for our pizza," he continues, "red, white and pesto. Red is the traditional tomato, white is a cheese sauce with a ricotta base with garlic, and pesto is basil with olive oil. The traditional tomato is very popular, but the white and pesto are doing very well here in Princeton, too."

"We also have a lot of different toppings, including prosciutto, artichoke hearts, eggplant, broccoli, spinach, crabmeat and shrimp, as well as sausage, pepperoni, meatballs, onions and peppers. The artichoke hearts and prosciutto

The purpose of the $1,000 minimum event is to raise funds for the benefit of the "Passage to Freedom Special Campaign for the Resettlement of Soviet Jews in Israel and the United States." Sponsored by The Jewish Federation of Mercer and Bucks Counties NJ/PA and the national United Jewish Appeal, the local campaign goal is to raise $160,000. This is part of a nation-wide effort to raise $75 million for emergency resettlement.

Also scheduled to speak is former refusenik Anastasya Kantor, who emigrated to the United States three years ago with her husband, daughter, parents and grandmother. The Kantors live in Princeton. They were aided in their resettlement by the Jewish Family Services and other Jewish relief agencies which receive funding from the Mercer Bucks federation.

For more information, call 883-5000 or (215) 736-8022.

The American Red Cross, Princeton Area Chapter, has announced plans for its "Donor Plus One" campaign to be held from June 26 through June 30. The campaign is designed to encourage individuals to donate blood and to bring a friend along to donate. Through this effort, the chapter hopes to increase the donor base at the Princeton Medical Center, the chapter's fixed donor site.

A variety of treats for donors will be provided throughout the week. To schedule an appointment, call the Chapter at 924-2404. Individual donors are also welcome.

The donor room is open weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 7:45 p.m.

In response to a growing need for support among adult children of elderly parents, a new support group is being formed at St. Lawrence Rehabilitation Center, Lawrenceville. The group is designed to assist adults in coping with issues and concerns related to the aging of their parents.

The first meeting of the Caregivers Support Group will be held Tuesday from 7 to 8:30 p.m. at the Center.

Cathe Frierman, program manager, will coordinate the group. "The primary focus," she comments, "is to provide mutual support. In addition, we will explore specific topics of interest and periodically feature speakers and other educational materials."

Current plans are for the group to meet on a monthly basis. Persons interested in attending should call 896-9500, extension 319.

For further information about the jail-a-thon, call the American Cancer Society, Mercer Unit, 394-5000.

Princeton Cub Scout Pack 43 will hold its annual award ceremony and Webelos graduation on Tuesday at 7:30 at Riverside School.

Scouts will receive their Wolf and Bear badges. There will also be special recognition of adults who have served the pack this year and in other years.

Dr. Max Besenbruch, president of the Princeton Rotary Club, has announced that the organization will donate $32,000, most of it to community causes, by July 1. This year, he said, our successful fund drives achieved a new high for a primary goal of Rotary: community needs.

The club's community service chairman, Orren Jack Turner, presented checks to 18 area institutions and causes.

"Twenty thousand dollars has been allocated to Princeton-area groups," said Mr. Turner. "The remaining $12,000 is earmarked for the Rotary International Foundation which underwrites such undertakings as the Polio Plus program for worldwide free inoculations to stamp out polio in children."

Organizations receiving gifts are the YMCA, YWCA, First Aid and Rescue Squad, Westminster Choir College (scholarship), American Boychoir (scholarship), American Red Cross, Corner House, Princeton Rotary Foundation (scholarship), Princeton High School Enrichment Program, Princeton High School Music Department, Blairstown Center, Princeton Senior Citizens Resource Center, Eden Institute, Princeton Youth Baseball, Princeton Soccer Association, Camp Mason, WHWH Food Fund, and the Princeton High School Post Prom Committee.

Penn Unanimous Pick for Ivy Football Title; Dartmouth Distant Second, Princeton Third
If the Ivy Sports Information Directors are right, and they've been known to be once in a while, Penn will run away and hide with the league's football title this fall.
In their annual poll, the eight SIDs make the Quakers a heavy favorite to recapture the championship they shared with Cornell in 1988. The Red and Blue received seven out of seven first-place votes in the balloting, the lowest total possible. SIDs do not vote for their own teams. There hasn't ever been that kind of unanimity among these independent thinkers.
The next closest team was Dartmouth, which got the only other first-place vote, with 20 points. Princeton (which finished tied for third last year with the Big Green with a 4-3 league mark) and Cornell placed third, each with 25 points.
Yale is fifth with 28, followed by Harvard with 31. Columbia is picked to stay ahead of Brown in seventh place with 41 votes. And the Bruins, who received 47 points, are forecast to have another dismal season.
Three new coaches will be at the helm when pre-season practice begins at the end of the summer. Gary Steele, previously the team's defensive coordinator, has replaced Ed Zubrow at Penn. Jack Fouts, the Big Red's offensive line coach, took over for Maxie Baughn in Ithaca. And Ray Tellier has been hired away from the University of Rochester to try to keep Columbia on the upward course started by Larry McElreavy.
Because of a scheduling switch that will have Cornell and Penn resuming their traditional Thanksgiving Day game, the Quakers and their new coach will be able to ease into their season against non-league teams, before facing any league foes. The Quakers will meet Colgate first, follow with Lafayette, have an open date on September 30, and finally begin their Ivy schedule with Columbia October 7.
Cornell will get a similar break, not starting its season until September 23, and then facing Bucknell, Northeastern and Lafayette, before taking on Harvard at home October 14. Meanwhile, Ivy competition will begin for the other six on September 16. Princeton will face a difficult test at Dartmouth. Brown will travel to Yale, and Harvard will meet Columbia in New York.

Princeton Players Picked For Two All-Star Teams
Selections have been announced for all-star teams in both Eastern League Baseball and Ivy women's lacrosse, and Princeton players have been named to both teams.
In lacrosse, three members of the Tiger team that reached the NCAA semifinals before losing to Harvard were chosen. The Crimson led in the balloting with four players named to the first team.
Senior Kristen Mautner and junior Catherine McCarthy were unanimous selections for attack, while sophomore Marge Adams was named on defense. Princeton resident Nadia Glucksberg, a graduate of Princeton High, and now a senior at Cornell, was also chosen on defense. She was an honorable mention pick each of the last two years.
The Orange and Black also placed three members on the second team. These included sophomore Phyllis Fogarty and junior Brit Dewey on attack, and goalie Demer Holleran, a second-team selection in 1988. Gillian Thomson received honorable mention on defense.
Noone, Barton Picked. Matt Noone and Jeff Barton were named to the EIBL first team in baseball. Noone, a junior, compiled a 4-1 record with a 2.50 earned run average. Barton, one of three outfielders chosen, hit .344.
Showing his versatility, Noone also was picked to the second team as a utility player, who hit .324. Senior outfielder Mike Lutz, who carried a .313 average, was also a second-team selection.
Freshman shortstop Sean Sullivan and sophomore second baseman Dan Palmer both received honorable mention.

Here's the story of one of the most amazing batting records ever made in big league baseball... As you know, it's unusual for anybody to hit over .400 for one season in the majors... But, in one incredible period of years, Rogers Hornsby once averaged over .400 for FIVE STRAIGHT SEASONS... Hornsby batted .397 in 1921... Then he hit .401 in 1922... In 1923, he hit .384... He batted .424 in 1924... And, he hit .403 in 1925... That figures out to a five-year average of .402 — a record never approached by anyone else in big league history.

Wagner Marseille of PHS, who had been pointing to a head-to-head meeting with Willingboro's Gerard Reynolds, had to settle for fifth place in the 110 high hurdles with a clocking of 14:43. Reynolds, who became a two-time State champion when he also won the long jump with a leap of 24-0, won the high hurdles in 14:00. A week ago, in the All Groups State meet, Marseille was timed in 14:17. Saturday's meet was run in the rain.

Thus, for the second year in a row, a Mercer County athlete failed to win an individual State title. The meet pits the top athletes in each event from around the State.

The girls from this area were also shut out, the top individual effort a third in the javelin by Steinert's Sue Scheer.

Princeton High's Caty Willard won her heat in the 800 in 2:22, but failed to place among the top five finalists. Earlier this year, she set a PHS record for the distance with a time of 2:19.8.

Monica Olkowski of Cherokee won the 800 on Saturday with a time of 2:14.27.

Ficarro's Inching Up In Won-Lost Column

The Princeton-based Steve Ficarro's Auto Body women's softball team improved its record to 6-3 last week in the Mercer County Women's League with a 4-3, come-from-behind victory over Larkin's Gulf.

Next up for Ficarro's is a Thursday contest at 6:30 against Hamilton Fitness at Mercer Park's Field 6.

Ficarro's fell behind early in its game with Larkin's when Larkin's scored all three of its runs in the first inning, bunting four hits, a walk and an error.

Ficarro's tied it in the third. With the bases filled following a Robyn Hart single and a pair of walks, Cindy Lombardo and Janet Comerford each singled in a run. An error let in the tying run.

In the bottom of the fourth, Dee Discavage opened with a single. Winning pitcher Karen Sprague then bounced to second for the force but beat the return throw to first. With two down, Cec Aerstin crushed a triple to left center, driving in the winning run.

Mark S. Adams

After the first inning, Sprague settled down and shut out Larkin's the rest of the way on three hits.

Durland had two hits and three at-bats for the victors, Clare Baxter contributed a pinch single and Diane Kelly recorded four putouts and two assists at second base.

PDS Names New Coach For Varsity Football

Princeton Day School has named Mark S. Adams as its varsity football coach.

He will replace Jim Walker, who is stepping down after 20 years as a varsity football coach, 13 of them at Princeton Day. Walker, who is also Dean of Students for the ninth and tenth grades, will coach the seventh- and eighth-grade football team.

The 31-year-old Adams comes to PDS from the Breck School in Minneapolis, where he coached for six years. He spent the first two directing the Middle School team, and then moved up to the varsity level, where he coached the offensive and defensive line for four seasons. Breck won the conference title in Adams' first year and made the State playoffs that season as well as the next.

A graduate of Ursinus College, he played football and ran track there, and graduated with a bachelor of science in physical education in 1982. Prior to Ursinus, he attended Friends Central School outside of Philadelphia and played on two Penn Jersey Championship football teams. He was named all-conference as a running back, and was also selected for the Main Line Chronicle all-star team as a defensive end.

A firm believer in the Delaware Wing-T, Adams reports he is committed to developing a football program at PDS that athletes will be proud to be associated with, and where team members can learn the value of discipline, hard work and team commitment.

Married with two children, Adams will be moving to Lawrenceville at the end of this month.

Tournaments Are Listed For Tennis Enthusiasts

The Mercer County Park Commission will sponsor its annual men's doubles tennis tournament at the County's outdoor tennis center in Mercer Park.

The tournament will have an A division for all teams with a 4.5 and above rating and a B division for all teams with a 4.0 and below rating. Trophies will be awarded to the winning teams and finalists in both divisions.

The single elimination event will begin on Saturday, July 8, and continue throughout the week with the finals for the B division on Thursday and the A division on Friday.

Tennis players of all levels are eligible. The entry fee is $5 per player for County residents, $7 for nonresidents.

Applications are available from the Outdoor Tennis Center. Call 448-2088 or 586-9850 between 8:30 and 4. Deadline is July 6.

The Park Commission would also like to remind all junior tennis players 18 and under that the deadline for the junior tennis tournament is June 22.

The tournament will begin on Saturday, June 24, and continue through Friday, June 30. Applications may be obtained at the Tennis Center or by calling the office.

Springdale Will Be Host For Long Driving Event

Springdale Golf Course will host a qualifying event next Monday, June 26, for the 15th annual Michelin National Long Driving Championship.

The $60,000 Long Driving Championship is open to amateurs and professionals. Contestants may register the day of the event and may hit as many balls as they wish by paying a $5 entry fee for every three balls. All proceeds benefit the Professional Golf Association of America's Junior Golf Foundation, which has received more than $500,000 since the tournament's inception.

Springdale qualifiers will advance to one of 15 district sites beginning in July. Twenty-five district qualifiers will then move on to the national finals November 4 and 5, at the Ruby golf course, Bahamas Princess Resort & Casino, Freeport/Lucaya, Grand Bahama Island, The Bahamas.

This year's $60,000 purse will be distributed among the top eight contestants, ranging from $18,000 to the winner, to $950 for eighth place. For more information, call 800-833-8798.

Princeton Post 76 at 2-0; Legion Play Under Way

Princeton Post 76, which has finished in third place every year for the past four in the Mercer County American Legion League, has gotten off to a 2-0 start this year.

Post 76 defeated Hightstown Post 148, 4-2, Monday night at Mercer County Park behind a strong pitching effort of Jeff Skalsinski, who was making his first Legion start. The previous day, in the seasons' opener for all ten teams, Post 76 defeated Hightstown again, 13-7, with Peter Prodanov, one of nine pitchers on Larry Bender's club, getting the win.

There will be little rest between games, as each team will play 27 regular-season games in 39 days, ending July 20. Each team will play each other twice for the first 18 games and then follow with a single third meeting.

This week, Post 76 will host Lawrence Post 414 this Wednesday at its home field in Mercer Park and then visit Lawrence on Thursday at Eggers Crossing Park. The weekend will bring back-to-back games with Bordentown Post 26, which finished second to Hamilton last year in the league with a 19-8 record. Post 76 will visit Bordentown at Gilder Field on Saturday and host Post 26 on Sunday.

Five Hits Per Team. Whereas the opener against Hightstown was a slugfest, Monday's game was a pitcher's duel, as both Skalsinski and his counterpart Howie Greenberg allowed only five hits.

Skalsinski, a West Windsor High junior, (only one player on the 20-member squad, second baseman Scott Petrone, is from Princeton High) benefitted from his team plating two runs in the first. He allowed single runs in the fourth and seventh innings, but struck out four and did not issue a single walk. "You can't ask any more from a kid in his first legion game," said Post 76 manager Bender.

Skalsinski, who admitted he was nervous before the start, was 2-0 for the West Windsor varsity team this spring and was 4-0 on the Pirate jayvee team.

First baseman Jim Brienza, a .373 hitter for Post 76 last year, singled home Prodanov in the first for Princeton's first run and Craig Schwartz connected with a two-out single — after Petrone was out trying to score from third on a passed ball — to make it 2-0.

Post 76's third run was vintage Bender, who, in starting his seventh season, trails only Hopewell's Gary Vogler (8th season) and Broad Street Park's Chuck Giambelluca (19) in length of service as a manager. Incidentally, Broad Street Park, 16-11, last year, is the consensus choice to win the league title this year.

In the fourth, after Hightstown had cut the lead to 2-1, Schwartz walked, advanced to second on a sacrifice and went to third on a wild pitch. With veteran shortstop Tim O'Connell at the plate, Bender flashed the squeeze sign. O'Connell's hunt was perfect down the first base line.

"I wanted that extra run. I've done it with Tim in the past and I knew it would work," said the wily Bender. Jim Brienza singled home Post 76's final run in the fifth. Brienza's two-hits followed his three-hit performance in the opening game.

Prodanov, who hit .352 last year for Post 76 as a 15-year-old, proved to be just as effective on the mound, as he allowed only one earned run in the five innings he pitched to get the win in the opener. The game was played at Hightstown's home field (also Mercer Park) under the lights.

Bender's announced goal this year is to make the playoffs again. The league champion receives an automatic berth to the New Jersey American Legion Tournament which begins July 29 and will be played in four counties across the State, including Mercer. The second team (and possibly a third) from Mercer County to advance to the State tournament will be decided in a double-elimination playoff July 22-24 involving the second-place through fifth place finishers.

Bender feels the key to this year's success will be the team's strength up the middle and on the mound. He has blue chippers up the middle in Greg Papciak behind the plate, O'Connell at short and Ryan Douglas (.317 last year) in center. As a team, Post 76 was second in league batting last year with a .382 mark but was not as strong on the mound.

This year, Bender says he is nine-deep in pitching. Tim Rumer, the ace for the past two seasons, is gone, but last year's stopper, Mark Lee, is back. Lee appeared in 29 of Post 76's 37 games last year. Among starters returning are Scott Lord (6-2 last year), Brienza, and Prodanov and O'Connell. Others are Skalsinski, Mike Andolina, Shawn Murphy and Dan Brienza. With this kind of depth, "All I need is five or six innings out of the starters," said Bender.

The complete roster includes infielders Brienza, Petrone, O'Connell, Greg Korn, Jason Rizzo, Tom Lanen and two 15-year-olds, Brent Papciak and Matt McClenahan. Douglas, Prodanov, A.J. Pietrinferno — who hatted .333 last year — and Jason Atlas patrol the outfield. Schwartz had been behind the plate until the return of three-year veteran Greg Papciak.

Bender, always an optimist, feels he has one of the best line-ups in his career. He's convinced "Now," he says, "it's up to the players to go out and show it's the best."

Ficarro's Wins Tourney, 5-1, in Somerville Event

"It was good for our team," agreed manager Bob Smyth, after his Princeton-based Steve Ficarro's Auto Body softball ball team won the seventh annual Chester Menkowski Memorial Tournament in Somerville during the weekend, with a 5-1 record. A six-time defending State champion, Ficarro's had been floundering earlier this season in the Mercer County league, so it was easy to understand Smyth's satisfaction. Despite missing some players, the team, said Smyth, "did what it had to do."

After winning its first three games to advance to the winners' bracket final, Ficarro's blanked McKenna Gold, 5-4, in eight innings.

Ficarro's tied the game at 4 in the eighth on singles by winning pitcher Grace Johnson, Dee Dee Prickett and Liz Selinger, and an RBI double by Grace Durland.

The teams broke the tie with the NCAA tiebreaker rule, wherein the player who made the last out in the preceding inning goes to second with none out.

Ficarro's retired McKenna in the top of the eighth and then won the game when Karen Sprague scored on a throwing error to third in its half of the inning.

From there, Ficarro's advanced to the over-all final, where it lost the first game, 9-2, to Long Island Traveler's. It came back with a 13-1 victory to win the tourney behind the nine-hit pitching of Clare Baxter.

Big hitters for Ficarro's in the clincher were Janet Connerford, Robyn Hart and Dee Vertucci, all with three hits. Durland, who had a .529 average and seven RBIs for the tournament, connected for a double and drove in three runs, while Cee Aerstin and Prickett each had two hits.

Defensively for the tournament, Prickett had 11 catches and two assists in the outfield, and leftfielder Lombardo had 21 catches.

Bond Issue

schools in 1991, providing construction is completed at Johnson Park

The committee is composed largely of residents of the community, along with a few staff members and several Board members, who will act as liaison

"Kindergarten enrollment as of June 9 shows the number of entering students is higher than had been anticipated," said Mrs. Kyle. The Board, she said, is particularly concerned about overpopulation at Community Park. A redistricting, which would send a number of Community Park students to Johnson Park, will be delayed because Johnson Park cannot be utilized until 1991, at the earliest

The Board plans to hire an additional teacher at Community Park," said Mrs. Kyle, adding that there is space for another classroom. "Class size at Community Park next year will be equivalent to that in other schools," she said

Current kindergarten enrollment for September, 1989, in the three elementary schools is 174. This does not include expected new kindergarteners from Princeton University, Princeton Theological Seminary, the Institute for Advanced Study, and Griggs Farm. Some ten or more kindergarteners are expected from these sources, which would bring the total to 184

The figure projected for this year was 168. Last year's total number of kindergarteners was 181.

The Board's enrollment projections had shown a small downturn for 1989, which does not appear to be taking place. Enrollments for the next three years are expected to be significantly higher people who have lived here 60 or 70 years. Don't take properties from people who have lived here all their lives. Build your own Mt. Laurel on your own land. You've just spent $5 million for open space," he added with disgust in his voice.

Housing

John Kelsey III, chairman of the Housing Board, explained that there would be no "taking" of anyone's property. If the Township were to acquire property to rehabilitate, the owner would be paid the market price. Mr. Kelsey said, "What we are hoping to do is to take money from developers' contributions to do rehabilitation where and if necessary."

But residents expressed concern that the survey and targeting certain properties for rehabilitation followed by rent or price controls would lower the value of their own adjacent homes. As the discussion moved on to discuss substandard housing in the neighborhood, the first speaker remarked that it was "amazing" the amount of interest that was "all of a sudden" being taken in the neighborhood

"Where were you when there were boxes on the streets? Nobody bothered then," he said. He accused the Housing Board representatives of trying to place ceilings on the amount that could be charged for an apartment in a home

Two Concepts. Michael Floyd, who is a member of the Witherspoon-Jackson Development Corporation and a former housing administrator at the Borough, suggested that there are two concepts involved. "One is preserving low- and moderate-income units, and the other is preserving a neighborhood that has been traditionally residential. They are not the same concept," Mr. Floyd said. "It worries me as a member of the WJDC that you are intent on preserving the low- and moderate-income units."

Mr. Floyd did not continue his train of thought, because a woman interrupted to ask "What do you mean by the neighborhood?" She said she was concerned about a particular house where the unkempt hedge indicated that the property was not being kept up. She said she was concerned that the house had become a commercial building in an area that is supposed to be residential

This was a common concern of the meeting, along with the fact that more and more houses are being bought by investors

Housing

One woman said she had noticed a big change in the neighborhood in the past year. The pattern — as the residents described it — is that an investor buys a house and rents it to a couple. The couple find the rent too high and sublets to another couple. "Before you know it there are 10, 12 people going in and out of that house at all hours of the day and night," as the residents put it. This led to a discussion of what constitutes a legal "family." A recent court decision had overturned another municipality's definition of a family, and if the Township tried to define the relationship by a set of numbers, this too could be challenged it was suggested.

"How Many to a Bathroom? How many people are allowed to use one bathroom?" was the way one person phrased the question of what the Township code says about multiple occupancy. William McCarty Jr., an attorney with the firm that represents the Township, spoke of the new efforts being made in regard to code enforcement. A four-person team, consisting of building, fire, health and zoning officials, has begun a stepped-up inspection program and has completed the inspection of eight properties.

"You're going to see an improvement," Mr. McCarty told the residents. But one resident pointed out that bringing a building up to code could mean substantial costs for the landlord, which would then be passed on as higher rent and could mean more displacement in the neighborhood.

"Some people may think it is just fine that they have a place to stay at a low rent that they can afford and don't care if the place gets fixed up," this person said. Code enforcement also means going back to the same building repeatedly, in some instances, to determine how many people are living there and if the repairs that have been ordered have been carried out.

"It requires a lot of detective work," Mr. Kelsey suggested. Ms. Silverman said that volunteers from the neighborhood could help in providing information and at least one volunteer should meet with the Township's new code enforcement committee on a regular basis.

At one point, trying to get a consensus of neighborhood sentiment, Ms. Silverman asked the group, "Would it be fair to say that you feel the town is trying to meet its low- and moderate-income obligation on the backs of the neighborhood?" There was a murmur of assent around the room. Both Ms. Silverman and Mr. Kelsey assured the group this is not the case. Mr. Kelsey said that the Mt. Laurel requirement and neighborhood rehabilitation are separate issues.

One resident remarked that if property values go up and up, taxes go up, and then people can't afford to stay in their houses. "It's a terrible thing when you can't afford to live in your house," this person said. Someone else pointed out that most of the young people from the neighborhood have had to go to Ewing Township to find decent housing.

Keep It Residential. "We've talked about the problems," Ms. Silverman said. "What are the things you like about the neighborhood, things you would like to see preserved?" Topping the list was keeping the neighborhood residential and for families, not speculators. But discussion turned again to problems. The streets are cleaner, residents said, but they wish something could be done to enforce the speed limit. They complained about the lack of police enforcement. They voiced concern about the lack of parking and expressed cynicism about the Township's willingness to provide adequate lighting on the way to the Community Park parking lot.

Talk turned again to the trend toward commercialization of residential property. Ms. Silverman suggested that the residents will want to tell the Planning Board how they feel about this at the draft master plan public hearings next week. She suggested another meeting of the group next Tuesday to formulate a statement about closing a loophole in the zoning regulations that allows commercial ventures to gain a foothold.

Toward the end of the meeting, Eugene McCray of Leigh Avenue stood up to tell of a grass-roots movement quietly taking place on his street. Some 12 families have been meeting together on Sunday afternoons to discuss ways of improving the quality of life in the neighborhood. The group came up with a list of concerns that mirrors the list developed at this meeting, Mr. McCray said.

Speakers Invited. The Leigh Avenue residents have invited speakers to its meetings. They asked Louise Shaw to tell them about the Neighborhood Preservation Program she runs for Borough and Township residents out of an office in the Borough. Township Mayor Phyllis Marchand came to their most recent meeting, Mr. McCray said.

"Princeton has changed; it's not the place it was in the 1950's," Mr. McCray told the group. "We decided we needed to know each other better, and one of the ways we're going to do that is to have a block party." He said this kind of grass-roots movement "has to be done from the ground up."

As the meeting drew to a close, Susan Repko, the Township's new housing manager, said she would contact the Township Police Department about enforcing the speed limit on Leigh and Birch Avenue.

Route 1 Store and Mall Both File Chapter 11

Cohoes Specialty Stores Ltd. — which has a store in MarketFair on Route 1 — and Fashion Plaza on Route 1 in North Brunswick have filed Chapter 11 petitions in United States Bankruptcy Court.

Under the Cohoes' plan, the chain will liquidate stock from all five of its stores, including the one at MarketFair. These sales will be held over the next two or three months in stores in New York and Connecticut. The MarketFair store will remain closed during this period.

About 35 employees were laid off at the MarketFair store when it closed two weeks ago.

Negotiations with a New York investment firm to purchase the inventory, receivables and other operating assets of all five stores, plus the right to use the Cohoes name, broke down a week ago because the firm would agree to reopen only the flagship store, in upstate New York, according to Judith Barnes, vice president of communications at Cohoes.

Cohoes Chairman Sanford J. Zimmerman believes that by restructuring Cohoes' finances under Chapter 11 rather than selling the company, he will be able to repay both his secured and unsecured creditors, rehire a greater number of employees, and reopen some or all of the stores, Ms. Barnes said.

Fashion Plaza's filing of Chapter 11 came despite efforts of a new manager to turn the center around.

"We believed that with a new management company, we'd be able to turn the mall around," said Fashion Plaza attorney Daniel Stolz. "We had hoped to be able to come to an agreement with Travelers to restructure the mortgage. But Travelers wouldn't back off."

Despite the Chapter 11 filing, the mall is open for business.

The largest creditor is Travelers Insurance Co. of McLean, Va., $36 million. Other creditors include First Fidelity Bank, Princeton, $1.3 million; Maione Companies Inc., Parsippany, $937,000; John Maione, partner, $815,000; and Alpha 1 Contractors, Somerdale, $734,000.

Sarnoff Gains Clients 1988 Report States

The David Sarnoff Research Center, a subsidiary of SRI International, achieved "outstanding performance results" in 1988, according to William F. Miller, president and chief executive officer of SRI International, who is chairman of the board of the Sarnoff Center.

The Sarnoff Center, established in 1942 as RCA Laboratories, in 1987 became a subsidiary of SRI International headquartered in Menlo Park, Calif. as part of an agreement with GE, which had acquired the Princeton research facility in its 1986 merger with RCA.

James J. Tietjen, Sarnoff's President and Chief Operating Officer, stated, "For the second consecutive year, we have outperformed our business plan, and we ended 1988 with an extremely healthy balance sheet and are already building for the future. We ended the year with more than $100 million in assets."

Our net revenues for 1988 were approximately $74 million, one third of which resulted from contracts outside of our five-year research agreement with General Electric. In 1987, only 16% of our revenues were from sources outside the GE contract," Dr. Tietjen said.

Major developments in 1988 at the Sarnoff Center included substantial progress in transmission and production hardware for Advanced Compatible Television (ACTV), Sarnoff's proposed system for the next generation of television.

Another major development was the awarding of a SEMATECH Center of Excellence in Plasma Etching to the New Jersey Consortium for Surface Processing, which was formed by the Sarnoff Center and four New Jersey academic institutions in 1987.

A powerful new surface emitting diode laser that makes possible the development of optoelectronic integrated circuits for chip-to-chip communication was announced by the Sarnoff Center in late 1988. Sarnoff researchers expect this to be a major new technology for the 1990s.

SRI and Sarnoff also collaborated on several major projects in 1988, according to Dr. Miller, who cited as one example the Generalized Emulation of Microcircuits (GEM) program for the United States Government.

Architects Win Award For Renovation Design

Kehrt Shatken Sharon Architects have received one of the first annual design awards for residential architecture in New Jersey Monthly magazine's 1988 Designs of the Year. New Jersey Monthly instituted a design competition last year, to "applaud the efforts of design professionals around the state to create architecture and interiors that offer aesthetically pleasing — as well as sound — solutions to their clients' needs."

The award honors Kehrt Shatken Sharon's design for a residence in Tewksbury Township. The design was chosen from more than 100 entries. In recognition, the firm's award-winning work will be published in New Jersey Monthly's March 1989 issue.

Open House at Airport For Learn to Fly Month

In celebration of "National Learn to Fly Month," Princeton Airport will hold a Flight Training Open House on Wednesday, June 28. Those who are interested in an aviation career or who wish to fly for pleasure are invited to the open house to get first hand information.

The day will begin at 8 a.m. and continue until dark. The staff and flight instructors will be available to answer questions regarding medical requirements, career opportunities, costs, etc. An "Introductory Flying Lesson" will be available for $25. The student will get hands-on experience while sitting in the left seat. The instructor, who sits in the right seat, will follow through with verbal instruction while monitoring with dual controls.

Raritan Valley Flying School at Princeton Airport is an FAA certified school which offers curricula from private pilot through air transport pilot. It has graduated hundreds of pilots during its 20-plus years of training, and the graduates are all over the world.

June has been declared National Learn to Fly Month by Congress, which is concerned about the decline in the number of commercial pilots. According to Naomi Nierenberg, president of Raritan Valley Flying School, the job market for pilots is better now than it has been for years. "With World War II and Korean War pilots nearing retirement, and the corporate, commuter, and commercial segments of aviation growing, the demand is at an all-time high," Mrs. Nierenberg said.

Airlines are predicting that between 52,000 and 62,000 new pilots will be hired in the next ten years. In 1988, the airlines hired 10,000 new pilots. Pilots in other segments of the industry are also in demand.

The Flight Training Open House will be postponed to June 29 or 30 if the weather is bad. There will be refreshments and souvenirs for participants. For further information, call 921-3100.

Library Place

This handsome stone manor house on this historic western street is one of the limited number of truly fine older homes in Princeton. A unique oval foyer opens to an impressive living room that can only be described as magnificent. The generous use of rich mahogany, a high ceiling, leaded windows with window seats and a marble fireplace combine to create a masterpiece. An intimate study with fireplace overlooks a terrace covered by luxuriant wisteria. A formal dining room, modern kitchen with breakfast area and a powder room complete the first floor. On the second floor — a luxurious master bedroom and bath, four bedrooms and 2 baths. On third floor — a studio. On lower level — a large room for recreation and hobbies. A bonus — a desirable 5 room apartment over the detached 3 car garage — for in-laws or income! Specimen trees and a picturesque fountain enhance the beautiful grounds. $1,200,000

PROTECT OUR PLANET: It's the only one we have. Take time to look at the world around you. In some places it is still beautiful and unspoiled, but in all too many areas our civilization has taken its toll. In ever increasing amounts, we are polluting our air and water, turning land into a gigantic trash dump, and eradicating plant and animal life. With our population growth and diminishing wilderness, it benefits us to keep these actions to a minimum. God gave us the earth and its natural resources to use, not destroy. Give thanks and resolve to do what you can to preserve the earth and its creatures. 5-31-61

The Power Purchaser Card... Don't Buy A Home Without It

Schlott Realtors® Has Designed An Exciting New Program
To Give You Maximum Home Buying And Home Selling Power!
It Is Called The Power House Plus Program.

Maximum Power For Buyers

Schlott Realtors® has designed the Power House Plus program in response to a growing need for reliable, more sophisticated real estate services. Through the revolutionary Power House Plus program, typical home buyers are automatically transformed into confident Power Purchasers.

As a Power Purchaser:

- you receive VIP treatment
- you are pre-qualified for a stated mortgage amount
- you have additional negotiating leverage
- after a completed mortgage application, you can usually receive 72-hour written mortgage commitment, subject only to property appraisal

Maximum Power For Sellers

In a similar fashion, home owners who list their houses through Schlott Realtors® become preferred Power Sellers.

As a Power Seller:

- you enjoy immediate access to creditworthy Power Purchasers
- you receive multi-media exposure of your home
- you benefit from accelerated mortgage approval and special financing incentives to those serious Schlott Realtors® home buyers

One Card Makes All The Difference

Schlott Realtors® Power Purchasers can be identified by personalized Power Purchaser cards that specify the type and amount of the mortgage loans for which they've been pre-qualified. This prestigious card commands instant recognition, credibility and respect from home sellers. It not only communicates a buyer's strong financial position, it also shows that he or she is willing and able to consummate a home buying transaction on-the-spot, a rarity in today's real estate market.

Give yourself more real estate power with Schlott Realtors® Power House Plus program. Contact your local Schlott Realtors® office for all the exciting details.

This card does not constitute loan approval. Actual mortgage amount, interest rate and loan type will be finally determined when formal application for the mortgage is made.
